

San Francisco Chronicle

HOLIDAY GIFT GUIDE

Dreaming of a green Christmas? We decided to take it a step further for The Chronicle's Evergreen Gift Guide and seek out presents with lasting appeal that are updated classics, environmentally conscious — or both. • We've unearthed splurge-worthy items (Page 4), organic bath and body products (Page 12), bamboo baby duds (Page 14), fair-trade chocolate (Page 15) and lots more local finds. • We've also got the hottest gadgets (Page 20) plus a where-to-buy guide (Page 26). Here's to an evergreen holiday!

December 2008 | SFGATE.com

Green Bath & Body

BAMFORD BAMBINO: Organic ingredients keep skin baby soft in this British line that includes a baby powder without talc, $32, bath and massage oil, $56, and baby balm, $40, at Barneys New York.

SALVAGE SCENTS: Evoke a mood with these pocket-size natural fragrance blends, such as tuberose, bergamot, amber and ylang-ylang, in Tsi-La's eau de parfum collection, $95, or $25, for individual scents, at Barneys New York.

GREEN WASH: Luxurious bamboo towel set, $59, at VivaTerra.com, boast natural antibacterial properties and come in ivory and flax. Farmaesthetics' herbal face and body cleanser, $32, and vapor bath elixir, $31, both at Clary Sage, are handcrafted in Portsmouth, R.I.

IT'S ALL IN THE WRIST: Polar's FT60 computer/heart monitor, $219.95, at REI.com, helps you find your target zone, feedback helps you stay motivated, and it comes with a GPS sensor to measure speed and distance.

FORM FOLLOWS FUNCTION: Clary Sage's flattering organic cotton yoga wear has been a hot item in Pacific Heights and beyond. The bustier top, $68, and fleece convertible wrap, $128, at Clarysageorganics.com, like the rest of the line, are designed and manufactured in the Bay Area.

For Her

KNIT HITS: Judith knits while watching TV; her homey hat, $80, at Ladita, was "Knit during the Summer Olympics," according to the hand-written tag.

MUSIC ON THE GO: No pockets? No problem. The iStik attaches to your clothes with a magnetic fastening system and holds second- or third-generation iPods, $19.95, at Goistik.com.

DOUBLE AGENT: Crafted from retro upholstery fabric, Kim White's reversible purse, $185, at Ladita, is actually two bags in one — three if you count the matching clip-on wallet.

